

Crop Pest Management

Common crop pests include aphids, caterpillars, beetles, and whiteflies. These pests damage crops by feeding on leaves, stems, and fruits.

Pest Control Methods: Integrated Pest Management (IPM) combines biological control, cultural practices, and selective pesticide use.

Examples: Lady beetles can help control aphids naturally.